THE SPADE TO EARTH

IS NOW TO TELL THE STORY.

General Gordon Issues Orders for Work on the Georgia Western to Begin at Once—An End to Talk and an Appeal to the Eloquent Shovel.

A New Move.

BY WHICH THE BRUNSWICK EXTENSION WILL BE PUSHED THROUGH.

Special dispatch to the Constitution.

NEW YORK, May 8, 12:40 a. m.—I hear to night on what I consider excellent authority, that Mr. Wolff, representing Erlanger & Co., of Frankfort, bankers, who own the Alabama Great Southern road, has concluded the purchase of the Brunswick and Albany railroad and will extend it at once to Eufaula and thence eventually to Meridian. A conference is being held to-night between the parties at interest, and the next day or two will probably define a new railroad system.

The Georgia Western.

General Gordon has closed a contract with Post & Wilkins for the building of the Chattahoochee railroad bridge.

He telegraphed orders to Major Green yesterday to put a force on the Georgia Western at once and prepare the road for him as far as Douglasville. The work will be pushed forward rapidly, the force being increased as rapidly as they can be made efficient. His plan has developed precisely as he laid it out at first, the delay that has been caused being inevitably incident in the organization of a great enterprise. H. W. G.

The following dispatch, addressed to Major W. S. Green, chief engineer, was received last evening:

NEW YORK, May 7.—Organize immediately an effective force under a good man, to repair and make ready for iron the graded portions of the Georgia Western, beginning at Atlanta.

J. B. GORDON.

Major Green was absent from the city yesterday, and THE CONSTITUTION was therefore unable to ascertain how soon a force will be ready to go to work; but it is safe to say that before the expiration of the present week work will actually be begun. Major Green now has the instructions that he has been waiting for, and the completion of the line to Douglasville is a certainty before the maturity of another crop.

Another Railroad Leased.

The Spartanburg and Union railroad has been leased by the Danville company at a reported yearly rental of $6,000.

YESTERDAY'S CONSTITUTION called on General Austell, who is known to be informed on the matter, and endeavored to glean the particulars. The general declined to say any thing further than that the lease has been perfected. The Charleston News and Courier says the Spartanburg and Asheville, with the Knoxville and Cincinnati connections, will naturally go next.

Railroad Stock.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 7.—At the public sale of day 1,258 shares of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad stock, consisting of individual increase stock, and new capital stock, 1,000 shares were sold. The bidding opened at $115 and closed at $124, aggregating over $150,000. C. McGhee, vice president of the road, bought all except fifty shares.

MARY DECLARES

That the Attacks Upon Her Father are Malicious and False.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The statement widely published throughout the United States during the last few days to the effect that Dr. Griffin (who has become known to the dramatic profession in all portions of the country as Miss Anderson's business manager, had misappropriated funds entrusted to his care by Miss Anderson, has called for the following statement from that talented American tragedienne:

The articles published in the various papers this morning were received by me Wednesday and Thursday to the effect that I had charged my stepfather and manager, Hamilton Griffin, with misappropriating my funds and property, are absolutely false. No such words were ever uttered by me. My personal and business relations with him have been, during his whole career, of the most amicable nature in every respect, and so long as I remain upon the stage he will be my manager. MARY ANDERSON.

A Large Land Suit.

HARRISONBURG, Va., May 7.—Another large and important land suit was decided in the United States court for the western district of Virginia here to-day. It was that of Hollingsworth, of Philadelphia, vs. Jacob Dunker and others, defendants for the possession of fifty-two thousand acres of land lying in the counties of Rockingham, Augusta and Pendleton, was decided in favor of the plaintiff, the court having found that the tax deed was made out in accordance with the defendants claimed was nullity. The counsel for the plaintiff were H. W. Speffey & Bell Gaines, and for the defendants Judge Robert Johnson, Hon. John Paul, George W. Berlin and Charles F. Haas.

An Important Decision.

GALVESTON, Tex., May 7.—A final decree was rendered in the United states court at Galveston on the 3d instant in the case of Wm. Gill vs. Wm. Little et al. involving the title to and partition of lands on the islands of Matagorda, St. Joseph's and Mustang, in this county. The case came up this term on a writ of revision filed by Wm. Little against the heirs of Hale et al. The decree establishes and confirms Wm. Little in the several parcels of land decreed to the several parties, and unites the amounts are paid within sixty days from the date of decree, the lands are to be sold under an execution to satisfy the decree. The amount of land involved is 60,000 acres.

The Premier's Illness.

LONDON, May 7.—Dr. Andrew Clark visited Mr. Gladstone this morning. He says the premier has not been well for some time, and that application to business brought on a sharp attack of indisposition, from which, however, he is now convalescent. THE FOILED DANDY

WRITHING IN MENTAL TORTURE.

The President Again Reiterates His Determination to Crush Out the Insolent Swaggerer from New York—All the Republican Plans Disarranged.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—It was last Friday that President Garfield talking to a few trusted friends about the fight against Robertson, expressed a determination to defend himself if the republican senators banded together in support of Conkling, and he remarked that every senator who should thus enter a combination against him, would be remembered for the remainder of his term. The president said further that he would not permit Conkling to confirm the nominations which pleased him and leave the only one that displeased him without action.

It now appears that Conkling intended and arranged to confirm all the New York nominations except Robertson, Thursday, and would have succeeded but for the withdrawal. Conkling remarked, to day, that another republican caucus would probably be held in a few days, which is regarded as an intimation that he intends to insist upon the enforcement of the rule adopted by the republican caucus in regard to contested nominations, unless the rule shall be formally abrogated. Conkling does not surrender. He means to fight through. He apparently realises that the odds are heavily against him. During the executive session yesterday, he talked with many democratic senators, and appealed for their assistance. He has five strong friends in the senate, who are doing all they can in his case, but the highest estimate of the number of democrats who will vote for him is 8. This is the estimate that is made by senators who have canvassed. His opponents give him but 7 republicans, but some accord him 12. The general opinion expressed by those who have paid close attention, is that Robertson will get at least two thirds of the vote, and all indications indicate this. President Garfield has said to democratic senators that he could only expect fair treatment from them, and he asked for no more. The administration has not made any overtures or appeals to the democrats. Much has been said about Garfield hurting his chances for a second term, but it can be stated that he is not worrying over that. He is desirous of making his first term what he promised in his inaugural. As it is very generally believed Robertson will be confirmed, it is said that the president would renominate the men he Thursday withdrew. It is now claimed that a majority of the commerce committee will report on Robertson favorably. One member, who was counted with Conkling, now declares himself the other way.

The president's action on the New York nominations has upset the republican plans, and they have not yet undertaken to arrange them. The talk of fixing an early day for adjournment, and a senator said that he intended to bring that subject up in the executive session yesterday afternoon. All the nominations reported from the committees have been confirmed but about 100 remain for committee action. Several republican senators again went to the president, this morning, and urged him to withdraw Robertson on the ground that it would remove all cause of trouble and open the way for nominations in New York entirely satisfactory to all republicans. The president again positively refused, saying he desired harmony, but could not now, after the threats that have been made, withdraw Robertson.

Governor L. A. Sheldon has received his commission as governor of New Mexico and left here to-night for that territory.

Major Thomas M. Vincent, assistant adjutant general in New Orleans, has been ordered to repair to San Antonio, Texas, and report to the commanding general department of Texas for duty as adjutant general of that department. The commanding general of that department of Texas, will relieve Major James Martin, assistant adjutant general, that duty as adjutant general of that department, and assign him to duty as assistant inspector general ordered upon the arrival of Major Vincent.

The operations of special orders directing Post Chaplain David Wills, of the United States army, to continue on duty at McPherson barracks, Atlanta Ga., until April 1, 1881, is extended to June 1, 1881, when Chaplain Wills will proceed to his station in the department of Columbia.

ROBERTSON'S OPINION.

He says Garfield will be "the Andrew Jackson of the Republican Party."

ALBANY, May 7.—There is great rejoicing here to-night among the anti-Conkling republicans and corresponding dejection among the followers of that senator over the move of President Garfield. During the evening the rooms of Senator Wagner, in the Delevan house, have been thronged with the friends of Senator Robertson, who have celebrated the event in bumpers of wine and speech-making. Judge Robertson himself spent some time in Senator Wagner's rooms, where he was warmly congratulated by the anti Conkling senators and the assembly men and congratulated upon the situation. Many of the democratic senators also called to pay their respects and join in the rejoicing, as well as a host of outsiders who happened to be in Albany. At last the half breeds say that they are to have material support in their fight against the dictatorship of Conkling, and they confidently predict his utter rout as a leader of the party in this state.

Judge Robertson was about the only anti-stalwart with whom I talked that did not seem to be carried off his feet by the sudden turn of events in his favor. I replied:

"Well, what do you think of this action of the president?" I said to him.

"I think," he replied, "that the president is to be the Andrew Jackson of the republican party."

"What does it mean?" I asked.

"Well," the judge replied, with a sly smile, "it looks very much to me as though it meant that the president had lost fait in Tom Platt."

This sly dig of the judge at the man who, it is said, agreed to support Robertson for any place he might be named for, in consideration of the votes of the independents which made him a United States senator, was received with shouts of laughter by the friends of the judge who heard it. At an impromptu gathering of a number of the friends of Judge Robertson this evening a committee was appointed to try and purchase the letter to the republican United States senators recently circulated in the senate withdrawing their approval of the nomination of Judge Robertson as the letter was not signed by a majority of the republican assemblymen, it has not yet been sent to Senator Conkling. The idea is to get it for Judge Robertson for reference when he is collector of the port of New York.

THE STAR ROUTE MEN.

The Boys in Philadelphia Being Stirred Up.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—At noon to-day Joseph R. Black, business partner of Albert C. Harmer, member of congress from the fifth Pennsylvania district, Joseph Funk, J. Blackman and W. R. Cason, who were also taken into custody in this city yesterday, for complicity in the scheme to defraud the United States government by putting in straw bids to secure the contracts for carrying the mails, were arraigned for a hearing before United States Commissioner Smith, in the United States court room in the presence of a large number of people. The government was represented by United States District Attorney Valentine, while those of the accused are represented by eminent members of the Philadelphia bar.

A large number of witnesses were examined, during which it was shown that the bonds had been executed in Black's office in this city. Black made a statement in which he acknowledged that he was a contractor, and that other people who had been taken into custody had bid for him, in order that a proper security might be entered, and he further stated that he was able and perfectly willing to indemnify the government for any loss that they might have sustained. The testimony previous to the statement being made was of such a conflicting character as to the complicity of Black that the commissioner was unable to give a decision in the matter. Finally, after a two hours' hearing, all of the accused were held in five thousand dollars each for a further hearing on Monday at noon.

GEORGIA TEA.

Sampled by Some New York Tea Merchants.

NEW YORK, May 7.—A number of representatives of leading tea houses in this city assembled in the tea house of A. A. Low & Co. to-day for the purpose of sampling some teas which were grown in Georgia by General LeDuc, commissioner of agriculture. Cups of tea were handed around to those present who pronounced it equal to best India tea. They thought the very best is not the favorite in this country because of its peculiar flavor, but experts agreed that with different treatment this home tea would be of a very superior flavor. The commissioner also exhibited specimens of tea which he had grown under arbors covered by brush and moss and which did not have the benefit of the sun. Experts decided that there was no difference in flavor or body between the shade grown tea and that grown in the sun.

From St. Thomas to Victoria, 118 miles, the run was made in one hour and thirty-seven minutes, consisting of five stops, consuming to sixteen minutes. One line of road to Walnut Hill has consented to introduce the system, and waits authority of the city council to go ahead. A test of the grade of one hundred and twenty feet to the mile on the Cincinnati Northern Narrow Guage railroad was made this morning The rails were wet, and the wheels of the locomotive were dead lashed, but the engine slid down the grade at a tremendous speed. The test is against the grade, as unsafe.

GEORGIA GOSSIP

CAUGHT UPON THE GREAT AVENUE.

What Our People Are Saying and Doing in the Federal Capital—Marcellus Thornton Becomes a Full-Fledged Republican. Interesting Incidents.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The return of the senate to its legitimate business has quickened the energies of the gentlemen who are after office. The Georgia republicans who have come to Washington on this laudable mission have for some weeks been quietly waiting or carefully laying their plans. Now the ball is opened and there is no time for rest.

The marshalship is, of course, a dead issue, all opposition to Longstreet apparently having been abandoned. He will be confirmed soon, probably before his name would come up in regular order, for he is one of the fortunates over whom there will be no struggle. The general will be at once recalled from Turkey to take his new duty city. Everybody seems to think that he will make an excellent marshal. The revenue collectorship is not arranged yet. The war on Clark is more determined than ever. It looks now like defeat to him. He left Washington a few weeks ago at peace with the administration, seemingly in a fair way for a safe tenure of office, but he had hardly gotten home before his opponents pounced on him again and began to pour their complaints into the ears of the departments. Mr. Wilson of Savannah, and Mr. W. H. McWhorter, a gauger in Atlanta, both kept the pot boiling here while there have been long range attacks made from Atlanta. I do not mean that these gentlemen have attacked Mr. Clark personally, though some republicans in Georgia, have gone so far as to do that but they have endeavored to show the administration how much better it would be if Clark were removed and the office placed in other hands.

Mr. W. L. Clark, editor of the Atlanta Republican, is another aspirant for the collectorship with several good stalwart friends at his back and the record of consistent service to his party in his favor.

But all calculations as to this office have been disturbed by the report on good authority that Hines, who is hardly settled in the district attorney's shoes, is to be transferred to the collectorship. The advantage of such an arrrangement, it is urged, would be in putting the office in the hands of a man not residing in the Murfreesboro pike, and there his trail was lost. The country was scoured throughout the day and night, but he could not be found. He was last seen, it is said, on the off region of the moustache, and dark sun-browned face, and appeared to weigh about 200 pounds He wore striped trousers, a light coat and a black hat.

GUILTY OF PERJURY.

The Jury Places the Brand Upon C. J. Barton.

The trial of C. J. Barton, charged with perjury, was continued yesterday in the superior court. Barton was represented by General Gartrell, Colonel Spencer and Mr. E. N. Broyles. Solicitor-General Hill represented the prosecution. The trial was conducted with the greatest possible care.

The principal witnesses for the state were Joe Nail and Frank Mills, who testified concerning the payment of the money orders to Barton. From the evidence introduced by the state, it appears that the accounts of the matter, which have been already published in THE CONSTITUTION, were correct. The firm of Shepard & Nash, of Texas town, owed Mr. Gus Hunt, of this city, an account, which account was placed in the hands of Barton for collection. Barton sent it to a lawyer in Texas named Christian. Mr. Hunt waited for the money for a long time, and as it was not forthcoming he grew anxious about it. He was advised of the mailing of money orders to Barton covering the amount of the account. Barton was approached on the subject he denied having received the money. Spesits & Simmons were employed to investigate the matter court, at which time he swore that he had never collected the money orders He was compelled, however, to make the amount good and was afterward arrested on a charge of perjury. The evidence on behalf of the state was very full and complete.

The defense undertook to prove an alibi. Dr. Perkins and S. F. Perkins testified to having arranged for Barton to travel for the Southern Templar about the time the money orders are said to have been paid and that on the day of the alleged collection Barton should have been in Chattanooga. Colonel R. A. Barton of Chattanooga, testified that Barton was in Chattanooga at the time at which it is claimed the orders were collected. Two colored men—E. Henry and L. E. Durrah—testified that Barton was in Chattanooga on the day which it is claimed the orders were collected by him.

As soon as the evidence of the negroes was heard, Official Mosely, under instruction of Solicitor-General Hill, went before Judge Tanner and swore out warrants charging them with perjury. They were arrested about 3 o'clock and carried to jail. They expressed no surprise on being arrested.

The argument was then made on both sides. The attorneys worked with tireless energy. About 9 o'clock last night the case was submitted to the jury, and at 11 o'clock a verdict of guilty was returned. Barton had been allowed to go home to his supper, and as soon as the verdict was rendered the officers started out to find him. He is a young man and is married. His chances of escape from a sentence of imprisonment in the penitentiary are slight, although an effort will be made to secure a new trial.

Barton left for his residence soon after midnight, and about 1 o'clock this morning was lodged in Fulton county jail.

The Monetary Conference.

PARIS, May 7.—At the monetary conference on Friday M. Cernuschi, the French delegate, and Mr. Dana Morton, the United States delegate, proposed that the representatives at the conference should furnish statistics of the gold and silver coin in their respective countries. The proposal was adopted. Mynheer Perona, the representative of Holland, made a striking speech in favor of, bimetalism. M. Pirmese, the Belgian delegate, replied, urging the maintenance of statu quo. M. Pirmese having insinuated that the states which had a forced paper currency favored bimetalism as a means of extricating themselves by the adoption of depreciated white metal, Signor Scialoja, the Italian delegate, replied that Italy in sending delegates had no idea of doing a stroke of business, but only of furnishing her quota of experience towards the settlement of a question which concerned not the present monetary but the future only. He pointed to international currency accepted by all the states. The next sitting of the conference will take place on Tuesday, the 10th instant. The delegates will visit President Grevy and the bank of France, on Monday next.

——The prospect of war between the administration and the Conkling faction has ripened into reality. The declaration is understood to have been made in the withdrawal of all the New York nominations except that of Robertson and Elmer, and the leaving of that thorn in the side of the haughty leader of the malcontents, Conkling will never be satisfied under any administration unless he can gratify his proclivities for bossing. His opposition to Hayes was based partly on the denial of his conceived rights of superiority and partly on the consciousness that Hayes was a fraud. In the quarrel with Garfield there is but one provocation for his animosity. He has been snubbed, and now that he has laid his plans for an attack on the administration, the public is aware of Conkling's pluck and power and a little doubtful of Garfield's grit, have grown to the belief that he would walk over the president elect, provided, to gain popular confidence in the strength of his administration that the president has made so square an issue. He wants to be known as the president and not as the mouth-piece of Blaine or the instrument of his personal spite. The democratic senators are calmly watching this quarrel fester. It means mischief, especially in New York, which seemed gone over to republicanism under the admirable organization perfected there last November.

This war will prolong the session of the senate and make some lively scenes within the locked doors.

All ides of reviving the Gorham-Riddleberger struggle seems to have been abandoned. Never again can the solid strength of the republican side be rallied for that scoundrel ticket. Several senators secretly feel the antipathy for Gorham which Mr. Hawley has been bold enough to express, and their love for Riddleberger is not enthusiastic. If the Democratic party in Virginia in their coming election there will be no talk next winter of putting up a democratic readjuster for the republican candidate for sergeant-at-arms. A defeat of the Mahonesites in Virginia would show the republicans that they must find some new method of splitting the solid south. I am afraid it would also seriously interfere with the prospects of the Georgia independents if they are to be very much on the Mahone line. If the Virginia defeat should not hurt them they will not escape a severe blow at home as soon as the people clearly understand their attitude.

Marcellus Thornton cannot be classed now with the independent leaders of Georgia, for he has gone further and stands a confirmed and assertive republican. He declares that Georgia is republican on a full vote and a fair count, and says he can demonstrate it to any fair mind.

——The Garfield administration will be more brilliant sociably than was that of Hayes. Nearly all the members of the cabinet entertain frequently.

Secretary Blaine, Mr. MacVeagh, Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Hunt, have each added to the social prestige of the capital since they went into the cabinet. Mrs. Garfield is showier than Mrs. Hayes in white house entertainment, and wine, so long proscribed at state dinners, now flows freely to the joy of the foreigners, who think a dinner without wine is disguised starvation. Vice-President Arthur is a famous high liver whose ruddy, soft complexion gives sign of rare beef and rich ale. He will spend his money freely and endeavor to lift his position from that insignificance into which such men as Colfax, Wilson and Wheeler have placed it by the cheap life they lead in Washington.

The Washington people are clamorous for a new white house. It must be admitted that the venerable barn now used by the president is not in keeping with the growing elegance of the city or the ripening tastes of the best American society. Its associations are sacred, of course, but it cannot be long before it will be left, like Mount Vernon, a curiosity and a hermitage. Already there are plans for a superb home for the president to be built in a much more desirable part of the city. "Republican simplicity" is gone in everything else about Washington, and there is no use of preserving one poor relic of it in the house where we cage and torment an illustrious citizen for four years.

——Nothing new relative to Georgia is on the breeze. There is the usual ceaseless pulling of wires both here and in Georgia for the few good places of federal patronage, but no new developments are known. The president intends to be very careful, and, if possible, to make only such appointments as will improve the federal service in our state. F. H. R.

A BRAVE DEFENSE

By a Tennessee Lady Against a Tramp.

NASHVILLE, May 7.—About one and a half miles from Lavergne, a man, supposed to be a tramp, asked Mrs. Charles Sears, who was out in a lot, the way to the Murfreesboro turnpike. She gave him the proper direction, but, instead of proceeding on his way, he seized her with fiendish ferocity in person, and commenced choking her. A desperate struggle ensued, during which the plucky woman struck at his head with an axe, missed it and cut him either on the neck or shoulder. The ax was covered with blood, and blood was also found on the ground and on her apron. On her crying loudly for help the man went away hastily. She then sent for her husband who was working in a field about two hundred yards away.

The tramp was seen afterwards passing the house of a negro about a mile from Mr. Seata's home. He was holding his coat over his side, and seemed to be sick. He was tracked about half a mile further on, when he took off a lane leading to the Murfreesboro pike, and there his trail was lost. The country was scoured throughout the day and night, but he could not be found. He was a tall, raw-boned man, with dark hair and moustache, and dark sun-browned face, and appeared to weigh about 200 pounds He wore striped trousers, a light coat and a black hat.

GUILTY OF PERJURY.

The Jury Places the Brand Upon C. J. Barton.

The trial of C. J. Barton, charged with perjury, was continued yesterday in the superior court. Barton was represented by General Gartrell, Colonel Spencer and Mr. E. N. Broyles. Solicitor-General Hill represented the prosecution. The trial was conducted with the greatest possible care.

The principal witnesses for the state were Joe Nail and Frank Mills, who testified concerning the payment of the money orders to Barton. From the evidence introduced by the state, it appears that the accounts of the matter, which have been already published in THE CONSTITUTION, were correct. The firm of Shepard & Nash, of Texas town, owed Mr. Gus Hunt, of this city, an account, which account was placed in the hands of Barton for collection. Barton sent it to a lawyer in Texas named Christian. Mr. Hunt waited for the money for a long time, and as it was not forthcoming he grew anxious about it. He was advised of the mailing of money orders to Barton covering the amount of the account. Barton was approached on the subject he denied having received the money. Spesits & Simmons were employed to investigate the matter court, at which time he swore that he had never collected the money orders He was compelled, however, to make the amount good and was afterward arrested on a charge of perjury. The evidence on behalf of the state was very full and complete.

The defense undertook to prove an alibi. Dr. Perkins and S. F. Perkins testified to having arranged for Barton to travel for the Southern Templar about the time the money orders are said to have been paid and that on the day of the alleged collection Barton should have been in Chattanooga. Colonel R. A. Barton of Chattanooga, testified that Barton was in Chattanooga at the time at which it is claimed the orders were collected. Two colored men—E. Henry and L. E. Durrah—testified that Barton was in Chattanooga on the day which it is claimed the orders were collected by him.

As soon as the evidence of the negroes was heard, Official Mosely, under instruction of Solicitor-General Hill, went before Judge Tanner and swore out warrants charging them with perjury. They were arrested about 3 o'clock and carried to jail. They expressed no surprise on being arrested.

The argument was then made on both sides. The attorneys worked with tireless energy. About 9 o'clock last night the case was submitted to the jury, and at 11 o'clock a verdict of guilty was returned. Barton had been allowed to go home to his supper, and as soon as the verdict was rendered the officers started out to find him. He is a young man and is married. His chances of escape from a sentence of imprisonment in the penitentiary are slight, although an effort will be made to secure a new trial.

Barton left for his residence soon after midnight, and about 1 o'clock this morning was lodged in Fulton county jail.

The Monetary Conference.

PARIS, May 7.—At the monetary conference on Friday M. Cernuschi, the French delegate, and Mr. Dana Morton, the United States delegate, proposed that the representatives at the conference should furnish statistics of the gold and silver coin in their respective countries. The proposal was adopted. Mynheer Perona, the representative of Holland, made a striking speech in favor of, bimetalism. M. Pirmese, the Belgian delegate, replied, urging the maintenance of statu quo. M. Pirmese having insinuated that the states which had a forced paper currency favored bimetalism as a means of extricating themselves by the adoption of depreciated white metal, Signor Scialoja, the Italian delegate, replied that Italy in sending delegates had no idea of doing a stroke of business, but only of furnishing her quota of experience towards the settlement of a question which concerned not the present monetary but the future only. He pointed to international currency accepted by all the states. The next sitting of the conference will take place on Tuesday, the 10th instant. The delegates will visit President Grevy and the bank of France, on Monday next.

——The prospect of war between the administration and the Conkling faction has ripened into reality. The declaration is understood to have been made in the withdrawal of all the New York nominations except that of Robertson and Elmer, and the leaving of that thorn in the side of the haughty leader of the malcontents, Conkling will never be satisfied under any administration unless he can gratify his proclivities for bossing. His opposition to Hayes was based partly on the denial of his conceived rights of superiority and partly on the consciousness that Hayes was a fraud. In the quarrel with Garfield there is but one provocation for his animosity. He has been snubbed, and now that he has laid his plans for an attack on the administration, the public is aware of Conkling's pluck and power and a little doubtful of Garfield's grit, have grown to the belief that he would walk over the president elect, provided, to gain popular confidence in the strength of his administration that the president has made so square an issue. He wants to be known as the president and not as the mouth-piece of Blaine or the instrument of his personal spite. The democratic senators are calmly watching this quarrel fester. It means mischief, especially in New York, which seemed gone over to republicanism under the admirable organization perfected there last November.

This war will prolong the session of the senate and make some lively scenes within the locked doors.

All ides of reviving the Gorham-Riddleberger struggle seems to have been abandoned. Never again can the solid strength of the republican side be rallied for that scoundrel ticket. Several senators secretly feel the antipathy for Gorham which Mr. Hawley has been bold enough to express, and their love for Riddleberger is not enthusiastic. If the Democratic party in Virginia in their coming election there will be no talk next winter of putting up a democratic readjuster for the republican candidate for sergeant-at-arms. A defeat of the Mahonesites in Virginia would show the republicans that they must find some new method of splitting the solid south. THE PUBLIC TRADE.

DRIFT OF COMMERCE LAST WEEK.

The Condition of the Markets for the Various Products Last Week in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, and Other Places.

NEW YORK, May 7.—In a little search for the condition of trade hereabouts, Mr. Willan, of Dun, Wiman & Co., mercantile agency, was met. He says that the spring trade in dry goods has not been satisfactory with jobbers, owing to the late season and the heavy fall stock carried. Some houses are taxed to carry products, as manufactures have caused much excess of demand. A few of the clothing houses are heavily loaded, and some anxiety is felt for them. The season has not been a profitable one in the dry goods or kindred branches, but there have been no important failures, and the expectation is that the summer's trade will yield better

Address THE CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Ga.

Entered as second-class matter in the Atlanta post-office, December 11, 1879.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 8, 1881.

THE country almost solidly applauds the president's determination to depose the New York boss from an assumed dictatorship. The latter has very few friends outside of his dependents and the ...r route jobbers. ...possism is at a discount in this country.

THERE should not be a grumbler this morning in all the state, for the weather and the growing crops and affairs generally are all that can be desired. Instead of grumbling over misfortunes past, present or possible, every man, woman and child should be grateful this morning that throughout the good old state there are strong arms and willing hearts that know no such word as fail. There is emphatically daylight ahead. The land is full of hope and courage.

THE senate was not in session yesterday and the struggle between the stalwarts and the liberals over Judge Robertson went over until to-morrow. The democrats are in an excellent position to enjoy the fight, and to turn it to account. The democratic stand from the beginning of the session has been admirable; it has practically driven Gorham and Riddleberger from the field, and when the honors are fairly apportioned Georgia will come in for rather more than the share of two senators.

...ssion, but they ...the government to regulate, or suspend the coming of Chinese ...ers in a reasonable manner, while ...rovide that all Chinese subjects ...w in the country shall be protected in ...roper rights. This authority will ...mit congress to say that not more than ...teen shall be landed from any one ship ...a limitation that will alone save the country from the terrors of a Chinese flood. Congress passed such a bill, but rather than construct the Pollard extension from Bainbridge, (where he would merely have to cross the river to get out of the jurisdiction of the Georgia commission), Mr. Plant, the president, prefers to construct the Way-cross extension through Georgia to Jacksonville, in Florida, where he can carry out the proposed extension to Pollard. "The above is perhaps the true "reason," adds the News, with delightful coolness, "why the Jacksonville and "Waycross railroad has been built in "spite of the commission." In other words, rather than build a line from Bainbridge to Pollard, over which the commission would have no control, Mr. Plant prefers to build a line from Waycross to Jacksonville, and thence to Pollard in order to avoid the commission. To put it in still another shape, Mr. Plant is so afraid he will be injured by the commission law that he straightway builds another railroad in Georgia rather than risk building one from Bainbridge to Pollard over which the commission would exercise no control whatever.

The argument is a stupendous one, but it is significant. It has a moral which we commend to the serious attention of the people of southern Georgia.

IT is stated in the highest circles that Conger is the only American senator who can perform the startling feat of voting through his nose.

SENATOR HAWLEY, of Connecticut, vows and declares that he will not vote for Gorham as secretary of the senate. If this be true, how in the name of goodness is Gorham to be elected? This news should be carried to Mr. Dawes, who is now straining his galluses in the patriotic effort to gird up the loins of the only genuine North American planet known to republican astronomers.

SENATOR EDMUNDS has displayed his native ability by keeping out of the rumpus.

WHAT does John Kelly's majority of fifty odd amount to, when the announcement is made that James Gordon Bennett is to be married to a foreign princess?

WHAT the country now needs is a map of your Uncle David Davis's position.

RIDDLEBERGER has the advantage of Gorham in that he has no newspaper in which to gradually give himself away.

IF we clearly understand Mr. Dawes, it is his purpose, by electing Gorham and Riddleberger to places in the senate, to gird up the loins of the republic. It seems to us Mr. Dawes might compromise matters by slapping a liver pad to the weak spot.

THEY seem to have reasonably intelligent floods in the west. They had Theodore Filton hemmed in a few weeks ago.

THERE is a disposition on the part of the public to deplore the fact that our colleges are turning out professional oarsmen, base ball players and pedestrians. The public, however, ought to be thankful that the colleges are not turning out book agents and circus men.

THE executive session goes very hard with Mr. Dawes. He is said to be badly chafed.

THE republican organs are almost unanimous in expressing the opinion that Gorham's debue as a candidate followed too closely upon the cold spell.

THE New York Tribune is not sorry to have the executive session, and yet the proud victory of the democrats worries it not a little. The distinguished editor seems of the opinion that Senator Brown is guilty party.

...WEEN Mr. Garfield and his postmaster ...l, Dorsey seems to have met with a ...and sudden repulse.

...esthetic craze is not confined to the towns. At Gullettsville recently a prominent citizen was somewhat gaudily marked under the rim of his hat by an anonymous piece of brick-a bat.

—Women will vote gracefully, will soon wear bonnets a la ballot-box, universal suffrage waists and political equality skirts and a little more than two months; in the second place, it is natural to suppose that the lower and more uniform rates of the commission will result in a sufficient increase of business to make up such losses as the managers now fear may result from the present schedule. It is foolish and absurd for the road to make such a war upon the commission as has been outlined in the communications of writers who may be supposed to be in the confidence of the ...

...pretation of the commission law posterous and absurd upon its face, that the clause which provides that the schedules of the commission shall be taken in all courts of the state as sufficient evidence that the rates therein ...t are just and reasonable, not only does not have the effect of throwing the railroads out of court, but carries them before a jury, where, by expert testimony, they have all the advantage over the state, the people and the commission. The schedules of the board are to be deemed just and reasonable until the roads can show to the contrary. Having disposed of so much of the "irrefragable "proof" offered by the News, there was not space left to consider other portions of the ponderous rejoinder.

It will be remembered that, among other things, THE CONSTITUTION begged the News to show wherein the commission law had injured any line now in operation, and to point to any "contemplated" railroad that ... be in course of construction if ...ssion had not ...reply the News ...

...ne, the board will promptly revise them.

With respect to the Pollard extension, it is to be borne in mind that it was talked of for years before the commission was thought of. What prevented its construction during all those years? Certainly it was the commission then, if it is the commission now. THE CONSTITUTION, however, would be glad to have more particular information from the News upon this point. How is it possible for the existence of a commission in Georgia ...nction of a railway ..., which would be wholly beyond control of the board? Let the southern Georgia press the of the Savannah, Florida and railway and the News for a ...y to all.

It goes on to say that, were unfit, they should never have been made. If they were fit, they should not have been withdrawn. President Garfield has lowered himself immensely and immeasurably. He has lowered his high office, grand for its power and glorious because a trust from a free people. He is the owl that cannot look upon the sun, not the dauntless and never blinding eagle.

Cincinnati Commercial, rep.

The executive stroke is given at the precise moment when it is most effective. It frees him from the packing-cords which the pitiful committee of safety and Mr. Conkling had cunningly wound him, exulting in the belief that he was securely bound. The apprehension that General Garfield is not mindful of the prerogatives and dignity of his high office, and was about to surrender to senatorial usurpation, may be safely dismissed. Whether the senate confirm or reject the nomination of Judge Robertson, the act by which the process of senatorial thuggism is broken will be generally approved and applauded.

Chicago Times, ind.

The situation offers an opportunity for the exercise of broad statesmanship and high political strategy on the part of the democrats in the senate. The way lies invitingly open before them, and it would seem that only through imperdonable stupidity can they fail to find it. It is as clearly their duty in a public sense as it is their best policy from the party point of view, to unite in sustaining the president. The pig-headed perversity of the Conklingites is furnishing the means ready made wherewith the "solid north" may be broken. Is there enough in the bourbon ranks to take up and use the weapons thus placed in their reach?

Macon Telegraph, dem.

No senator should be more unpopular with democrats than Mr. Conkling. A bitter, domineering, unscrupulous sectionalist, he never missed an opportunity to wound the southern people, and the defeat of his personal aspirations would be as acceptable to them as beneficial to the country. We believe it is the part of every lover and of patriotism to stand by Garfield in this fight and help him to prostrate Conkling. The country will pause to await the issue. Conkling has often "made the greatest effort of his life." In times past, but now it will come of a surety, and it will like enough be the requiem of so-called republican supremacy in the United States, before the consequences are all told.

Cleveland Herald, rep.

President Garfield—thanks be to God!—felt that forbearance had been exhausted, and that the chief curse of republicanism in the United States was the aim of a self-constituted leader of the party to clutch the power of the executive for his own selfish ends. The surrender of his rights as president was demanded. The summons has been answered by a bold defiance, made in a sense of right and power which cannot but triumph in the end. The issue is before the senate and the country, and its result will not be doubtful. It will put this usurping Senator back where he belongs, and if he makes the war he the stone he will but make it to his own destruction and to the honor of the administration which, in duty to the whole country, has refused to do his selfish bidding.

New York Times, rep.

The nominees are as fit now to dp the work for which they were selected as they were a few days ago. If they are not now they were not fit then. Nor can Mr. Garfield hope to gain any advantage over Senator Conkling by such tactics, for only the most eminent politicians are on his level, and renders himself far more vulnerable to these modes of attack in which the senator is an expert. Mr. Conkling's position as the leader of republican senators have been taxed on the assertion that the Robertson nomination was intended to humiliate him. As the leader of his party in his state, he claimed the right to be consulted, and appointments made without consulting him were offensive to him. Mr. Garfield's action yesterday will strengthen this pretension, which should have been completely ignored. It greatly magnifies Mr. Conkling's importance, and it gives him reason where he had little or none before to claim that the difference between him and the president is a personal one. It is not easy to see what the president has to gain by giving such an aspect to the situation.

The Insane of the State.

Augusta Evening News

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION of Wednesday prints an interview with Dr Willis F Westmoreland on the subject of an extension of the lunatic asylum, which calls loudly for prompt action at the hands of the legislature. This is one of the most important subjects for the consideration of that body at its fully session. There is a demand for the accommodation of 500 lunatics who are now crowded almost to death in the asylum and in the county jails of the state. The insane in the poor-houses of Georgia will urge this matter upon the attention of the members of the legislature to the end that prompt relief may be provided.

Dalton Argus.

In a recent interview with one of THE CONSTITUTION men, Dr. Westmoreland makes some startling propositions as to the actual condition of those unfortunates confined in the state lunatic asylum. He says while the officers in charge are doing everything possible for the comfort and care of the inmates, the penny-wise policy of the state towards its charities leaves them utterly helpless, only as circumstances favor. The asylum is dangerously crowded, and many more fine cases epidemic the greatest suffering would result. There are now four hundred inmates over the capacity of the asylum and as many more confined in the dingy county jails awaiting their turn. Dr. W. very properly considers it a matter in which every humane person must be interested; and it is. Let the Georgia press take it up and force its recognition by the legislature soon to assemble. Let us, by all means, have another asylum, built and endowed with a view to a proper care of those bereft of their reason.

Divorces in Georgia.

Columbus Times.

We have more than once adverted in these columns to the rapid increase of divorces among the people of New England, amounting last year if we remember rightly to over ten per cent of the marriages. In the states of Connecticut and Massachusetts, and to a still larger per cent in Maine. But, unless our own people improve in their ways, we shall not have occasion to go to New England to find texts for lectures upon the laxity of matrimonial obligations. The dockets of our own court are beginning to show an alarming increase in such cases, and while many of the parties are negroes, the fact is scarcely less deplorable, for as we are to have these people among us, it is best that they, as well as the whites, should live faithful to their marriage vows. We notice in a late ATLANTA CONSTITUTION that a list of 35 couples is published, who are applying for divorces. We are sorry to see these things. It ought not so to be. The state, the church and society in its whole life should find a remedy for so great an evil, and apply it.

Lily's Ball.

Lily gave a party,
And her little playmates all,
Gayly dressed, in gowns of their best,
To dance at Lily's ball.

Little Quaker Primrose
Sat and never stirred,
And except in whispers
Never spoke a word.

Tulip fine and Dahlia
Showed off in state;
Learned old Convolvulus
Was tiresome with his Latin.

Snowdrop nearly fainted
Because the room was hot,
And would only believe
With sweet Forget-me-not.

Pansy danced with Daffodil,
Rose with Violet;
Silly Pansy fell in love
With pretty Mignonette.

But when they danced the country dance,
One could scarcely tell
Which of these two danced it best—
Cowslip or Heather-bell.

Between the dances, when they all
Were seated in their places,
I thought I'd never seen before
So many pretty faces.

But of all the pretty maidens
I saw at Lily's ball,
Darling Lily was to me
The sweetest of them all.

And when the dance was over,
They went down stairs to sup,
And each had a taste of honey cake
With dew in a buttercup.

And all were dressed to go away
Before the set of sun;
And Lily said "Good-bye!" and gave
A kiss to every one.

And before the moon or a single star
Was shining overhead,
Lily and all her little friends
Were fast asleep in bed.

—The Countess de Saint Cricq, a descendant of the Chevalier Bayard, lately died at a great age. She was an intellectual and womanly woman, and as an instance of her goodness of heart it is related that she kept at her country house an old donkey that had been accustomed for thirty years to go to market with baskets on each side, baskets filled with farm produce. He had grown so weak and so old that he could no longer bear laden baskets; and so to spare him the mortification of staying at home on market days she would send him regularly to market with empty baskets.

Labor Saving.

The demand of the people for an easier method of preparing Kidney-Wort has induced the proprietors, the well known wholesale druggists, Wells, Richardson & Co., of Burlington, Vermont, to prepare it for sale in liquid form as well as in dry form. It saves all the labor of preparing, and as it is equally efficient it is preferred by many persons. Kidney-Wort always and everywhere proves itself a perfect remedy.—Buffalo News.

—Nicholas, the grand duke who has been exiled from Russia for his supposed relations with the nihilists, is a cousin of the present czar, an inventor and a sculptor. His escapade with the American adventuress, Miss Hattie Blackford, better known as Fanny Lear, brought him into unenviable notoriety. He was the black sheep of the Romanoffs, and what with stealing diamonds, playing Don Juan and engaging in nihilist plots, there was no other resource left but to put him where he can do no further harm to himself or the ruler of the Russias.

BILL ARP

Expresses His Views on the Education Question.

Written for The Constitution.

Is there any politics going on—anything except spoils? Is there any momentus issue before the country that we must take sides upon—anything bigger than Gorham and Spizerinktum gitting an office? Is it a sign of brilliant statesmanship for one party to outset another party, and was that why the English parliament was once called the rump parliament because it set a long time and done nothing? Is our party committed to educating the negro, or are we just digging into the rads because they promised so much and done so little? I just want to be posted. I'm afraid my own education is a little defective on this point. I reckon I'm one of the twigs that was bent and the tree is now inclined from a proper perpendicular upon the subject of education. Mr. Pope said a little learning is a dangerous thing. I don't know so well about that, but I am very certain that a good deal of it is no advantage to the majority of people. It spoils too many hewers of wood and drawers of water, and don't make anything else of 'em. If everybody was rich, and could live like a gentleman a power of learning would be a good thing, but most people have to work for a living, and a little is just as good as a good deal to them. If a chap has an uncommon quantity of brains in his noggin and wants more learnin', he will be apt to get it some way. If he has just a common supply, all he needs is a common education, and if he haint got hardly any, then there's no use in straining his gun. The country needs laborers; the farms need 'em, and so does the shop; but the farm nor the shop won't get 'em from the colleges. About one out of ten who graduates, becomes an ornament to the law or the gospel, or some profession, and the other nine expect some profession to ornament them. When a young man has studied logic and rhetoric and syllogism and other conundrums, he thinks it would be a waste of sweetness for him to work—work with his hands, his pretty white hands. He just couldn't think of such a thing; the very idea is preposterous. He must do brain work, and so he finds his way into some lawyer's office or doctor's shop, or turns country editor and goes to abusing somebody, or runs for a little country office, or loafs around town and gits a living—nobody knows how; and his last hope is to invigigle some effich-hearted girl who has rich expectations, and then live off of the old man's money. Everybody's children ought to be taught to read and to figger a little; and I'm willing to be taxed for that, but if they get any more let 'em get it out of somebody else's pocket than mine. I am opposed to spoiling so many good subjects for the plow and the anvil. Elihu Barritt was a great astronomer and he was a blacksmith and studied at the forge, and it may be that if he had gone to college he wouldn't have been any account. There's more in the boy than there is in the college. In these days of cheap books any boy or girl can get an education if they want it, but my observation is that not more than one in ten want an unusual quantity. If the family takes a good newspaper and has a Bible and a few story books in the house and the children do an honest day's work they'll get along about as well as the college boys in the long run and do as much good in the world. It's bad enough to be spoiling so many white boys, but when you talk about negroes it's too much. My opinion is that their natural condition and inclination is work—labor—sweat—elbow grease, and they are never so happy and contented as when they are at it, and every time you educate one you spoil him; you make a fool of him, and I've no sympathy with that hobby that some of our states men are riding—the education of the negro; and if that is to be a plank in our platform I won't stand on it in my present frame of mind. I don't oppose any man giving his own children just as much learning as he can afford, and I'll do the same thing by mine, but maybe both of us will be disappointed in our expectations and so he will spoil some good mechanics, but I'm opposed to a general system of educating the masses at public expense, except so far as the simple rudiments are concerned. Lay the foundation and stop. I tell you it's a risky operation; are powerful shifty. They can invent more ways to dodge work than any of their predecessors. A nice looking man came to see me the other day while I was way down in the field planting watermelons and he was riding a second hand horse and had a book full of elegant flowers and roses, and poses and gerangers, and I told him no, I dident want any, and he kept on showing his pictures and explaining till I got tired and told him several times I dident want any and finally he showed me a picture of a new lily they had imported from the island of Madagaskar, and you could smell it forty yards off hand and said they really ought not to sell any of um this year for fear of diminishing their limited stock, but as it was me he would let me have half a dozen at a dollar a bulb. But I told him I sympathized with his company and thought it would be imprudent for them to dispose of any this year and advised him to wait. When he got ready to depart he asked me if I had any objections to his calling on Mrs. Arp and getting an order from her if he could. "Not whatever," said I as he started off, quite jubilant and hilarious. "Maybe she will take a few of those Madagaskar lilies if you are certain your company could spare them." Mrs. Arp don't play second fiddle to me about such feminine things as flowers, but I know that she knew the state of the exchecker, and was a considerate woman, and I watched the door to see how long she entertained that young man, and it didn't take her half so long as it did me to convince him she wasn't running on blossoms at this time. She told him that those same Madagaskar lilies were growing wild down in our swamp, and she was glad she had found the true name for them, and she would like to engage 500 bulbs to the company at twenty-five cents apiece. Well, you see that young man had a little too much education. That's what's the matter. The rudeliest young darkey I had got a little cheap education after the surrender and the first use he made of it was to forge an order on his employer and jump into the chain gang. I suppose the spoil of New England have got more education than anybody but they are no better that one can perceive and all the isms came from up there and I never think of em but what I remember what Mr. Pope said about Lord Bacon, "the wisest, brightest meanest, of mankind." Congress has got more smart men than any place, I reckon, but if I was hunting for honest men I would cruise round outside awhile before I went in, and if I was hunting patriots who thought it was sweet to die for their country I wouldn't go in at all. The best people I know of and the most reliable in time of trouble are living an humble life and making no noise in the world and they are no more unfeited with education either. Maybe I've not got enough to understand the question or have got too much for my capacity, but somehow or other I think people are getting a little too smart, and I reckon we had better not encourage too much book larnin' for Solomon says that "much study is a weariness to the flesh." Yours,

BILL ARP.

—Dr. Fulton, the "Brooklyn Newman," according to the New York Sun, has been talking pretty plainly about wealthy men. In a recent sermon he dwelt largely upon the receptions he had met with when calling upon rich men to solicit subscriptions to pay the church debt. Often, he said, persons overburdened with wealth, were so miserly, so arrogant and so mean that it was hard not to experience a sense of relief at the reflection that he should not meet them in heaven. "What a happy thought," he said, "that heaven will be peopled with ladies and gentlemen."

There is scarcely a person to be found that will not be greatly benefited by a thorough course of Kidney-Wort every spring. If you feel out of sorts and don't know why, try a package of Kidney-Wort and you will feel like a new creature—Indianapolis Sentinel.

THE COTTON EXPOSITION BUILDINGS.

The above cut of the Exposition building gives a good idea of what we may expect to see. The design is one which was originally made for a single story cotton factory. The central room, where the four wings unite, will be 112 feet square and probably two stories high. The long wings will be 96 feet wide and 304 feet long, making the building's length in the longest place 720 feet. The short wings will be 96 feet wide and 144 feet long, making the total length in that direction 400 feet. This will give a floor space of 98,560 feet, or about two acres. The wing rooms will be 16 feet in the clear. The floor of the building will be of plank, 2½ or three inches thick. The side lights will be of fixed sash. Occasional windows will be made to open. Four electric lights will aid in lighting the building. To guard against fire the building will be supplied with machines that will sound their own alarm and operate themselves. The building will be so constructed that it can be easily moved away and used for other purposes when the exposition is over.

Be Careful of Your Eyes,

A pair of spectacles should never be purchased from any person who is not thoroughly acquainted with the anatomy, physiology and diseases of the human eye, laws of light, and the science of optics. Yet it is strictly true, that a full knowledge of the above, combined with skill and experience, is absolutely necessary to correctly adjust to the eye a pair of spectacles. I find on returning to the city, after a short absence caused by sickness, that many of my customers have been obliged to purchase spectacles of dealers who sell them any merchandise, without of the human eye, thereby serious injury. A Boom.

Keely has gotten up "a boom," notwithstanding the cry of dull times which is on all sides. He has made a "dead in dress goods and silks, and the reduction in price which he has effected in his garments have resulted during the past week in the largest sales ever made, even by John Keely, in those stocks, at a corresponding season of the year. The most cursory glance at his store during the past week, a paseing notice of the crowds of purchasers, the low prices of the goods offered, (for instance, solid color dress silks 37½ cents per yard the frequency with which "cash" was being called, all showed that business like which has always characterized "Keely's."

Every customer who visits this store receives a bill of her purchases, which is carefully "checked" to prevent error; indeed, we doubt very much if a better system of business is to be met with in any of the largest northern houses. Keely promises to "make it lively" this season, and he is certainly doing it. His is an energy which never flags, a politic new which never varies, and an ability unquestioned. Like a true Irishman, he carries his heart in his hand, ready for response to all the demands of humanity. Read his notices and give him a call.

JOHN KEELY

THE LEADER OF

LOW PRICES.

Taking cognizance of the fact that the spring season has been so short as to have been scarcely recognized, and being determined not to allow midsummer to come and find him the possessor of a large lot of Spring weight Dress Goods, has determined to clear out his entire Dress Goods Stock. This can be accomplished by sweeping reductions in prices. How "sweeping" have been these reductions

LET THE PUBLIC JUDGE

His Dress Goods department has therefore been resolved into one Grand Bargain Counter, over which will be sold at prices hitherto unheard of. Doubtless some of the Dry Goods fraternity will be angry at this break in the prices, but

DRESS GOODS AND SILKS

JOHN KEELY

Knows just what he is doing!

Read the following list of reductions and that the reductions apply only to strictly Spring Goods:

REMEMBER

A few pieces New Shades in Spring Camel's Hair Goods, 75c and 85c per yard; were $1 00 and $1 25.

One small lot all Wool DeBeyes, 27½c to 35c per yard, formerly sold at 40c to 50c per yard.

A few Beautiful DeByes, 20c yard, formerly 35c yard.

Elegant Cotton Fabrics, fancy Spring Dress Goods, including Matelasse Goods, Wash Poplins, Poplinettes, etc., 10c yard, reduced from 12 and 15c.

One lot of choice Brocaded Worsteds, 15c yard, goods formerly sold at 25c to 35c yard

A few choice styles Lace Buntings, 15c yard, goods which brought in March and April 25c to 35c yard.

These are Sweeping Reductions! and they will move the Goods!

W. H. Brotherton.

—Self preservation is recognized by all people as a law of the highest obligation, and it is observed in the purchase of goods as well as in other things. We all try to get the best bargains, and this is right. There is no reason why we should go to the store of Mr. A. and pay him a dollar for what can be bought from Mr. B for fifty cents, unless we wish to do Mr. A. an act of charity. It is well then to get posted as to the place where the best bargains may be secured, and spend our money there. We presume that many have already come to this conclusion in favor of W. H. Brotherton, from the crowds that throng his store, and who buy so eagerly and liberally from his superb stock. Such as these need no further proof that he is selling the best bargains that can be had in the city. But for the benefit of those who are not so well posted, we make the following mention of articles and prices:

Kilt suits for children from 3 to 5 years of age in great variety and quality, from the cheapest to the finest cassimere. Mothers, do not fail to see these goods.

50—2-piece striped cassimere suits for children from 3 to 10 years of age in short and long pants for $2 25.

30—2-piece plaid cassimere suits for children from 4 to 10 years of age in short pants, at $3.

50—3-piece plaid and striped cassimere suits for children from four to ten years of age, in long and short pants, at $3 50 to $4

50—3-piece striped and plaid cassimere suits for school boys from 8 to 12 years of age, at $5.

387—3-piece plain, plaid and striped cassimere suits for boys from 11 to 16 years of age, ranging in price at $4 50, $5 25, $5 75, $6 50, $8 20, $11 00 and $14.50.

544—3-piece plaid, striped and plain cassimere suits for youths from 16 to 21 years of age ranging in price at $5, $6.25, $7.50, $9, $11, $15 50 and $17.

Also, coats, pants and vests sold separate from full suits in cassimere, alpaca, linen and grass suits.

Also, 500 children's, boys' youths' and men's linen and grass cloth coats and dusters that are slightly damaged by water, that he is offering at a great sacrifice.

Also, 1,190 plaid, striped and plain cassimere suits for men ranging in price at $2 50, $4, $5, $6 75, $7 50, $8 50, $10, $11 25, $12 50, $13 50, $14 75, $15 25, $17 50, $19, $20 and $24.

Also coats, pants and vests, sold separately from full suits from the lowest priced garment manufactured, to the very best, and a great many other articles too numerous to mention. In fact, in this department you can find anything usually kept in a first-class ready-made clothing and gents' furnishing goods establishment.

Ladies' Dress Goods in profusion from Calicoes at 5 cents per yard to exquisitely beautiful Silks and Satins from 50 cents to $6 per yard. This department is unusually full with something to please every taste. He has just received and opened many patterns that are entirely new in this market. They are of every imaginable style and shade of color—beautiful and extremely cheap. The ladies should be sure to examine his goods in this department early the coming week. The weavers and dyers have done their best to please them, and Captain Brotherton has selected the most tasteful and elegant of their productions for Atlanta.

A large assortment of bleached and unbleached domestics are kept on sale at prices ranging from 5 cents per yard up to the best makes. You can supply yourself with whatever brand you may fancy from this heavy stock. His stock of fancy goods is exquisite. We do not know how to even begin in writing of the innumerable details in this department. The counters and cases set apart for this branch of his business are perfectly splendid, costing more than one thousand dollars. They are made of the very best material, put together by master artisans and adapted to the convenience of salesmen and customers. Even a glance within these cases reveals a superb and varied stock of Ribbons, Laces, Embroidery, Insertings, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, etc., etc., etc. Of course we have not space in which to give the prices of this line of goods, for they are as various as the articles; but we venture to say that no cheaper goods can be found in Atlanta.

Two separate and distinct cases, most ingeniously arranged for the protection and exhibition of a large assortment of Kid Gloves, have been provided, at heavy expense, and these are filled with the most splendid selections from the celebrated manufacturers of the United States and Europe. All sizes and all colors will be furnished at the very lowest prices, for which first-class articles in this line can be sold.

We must conclude by the general declaration which an examination of his stock will sustain, that Captain Brotherton's establishment, at the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets, is the place to get bargains in any department—the place to buy the most for any given sum of money. Therefore, obey the law of self-protection and spending your money there.
